Tina the ant had a cold.
Her antennae were swollen and red like chili peppers, and her ducts were so blocked she couldn't smell anything.

And there it was, she was sneezing again!
"Atchoo! Atchoo! Atchoo!"

She looked in the babies' room...

Then we went through the sewers and...

Well! What a way to welcome the cutest little mouse in the world!
I shouted at them at the top of my lungs: Hiiiic! Hiiiic!

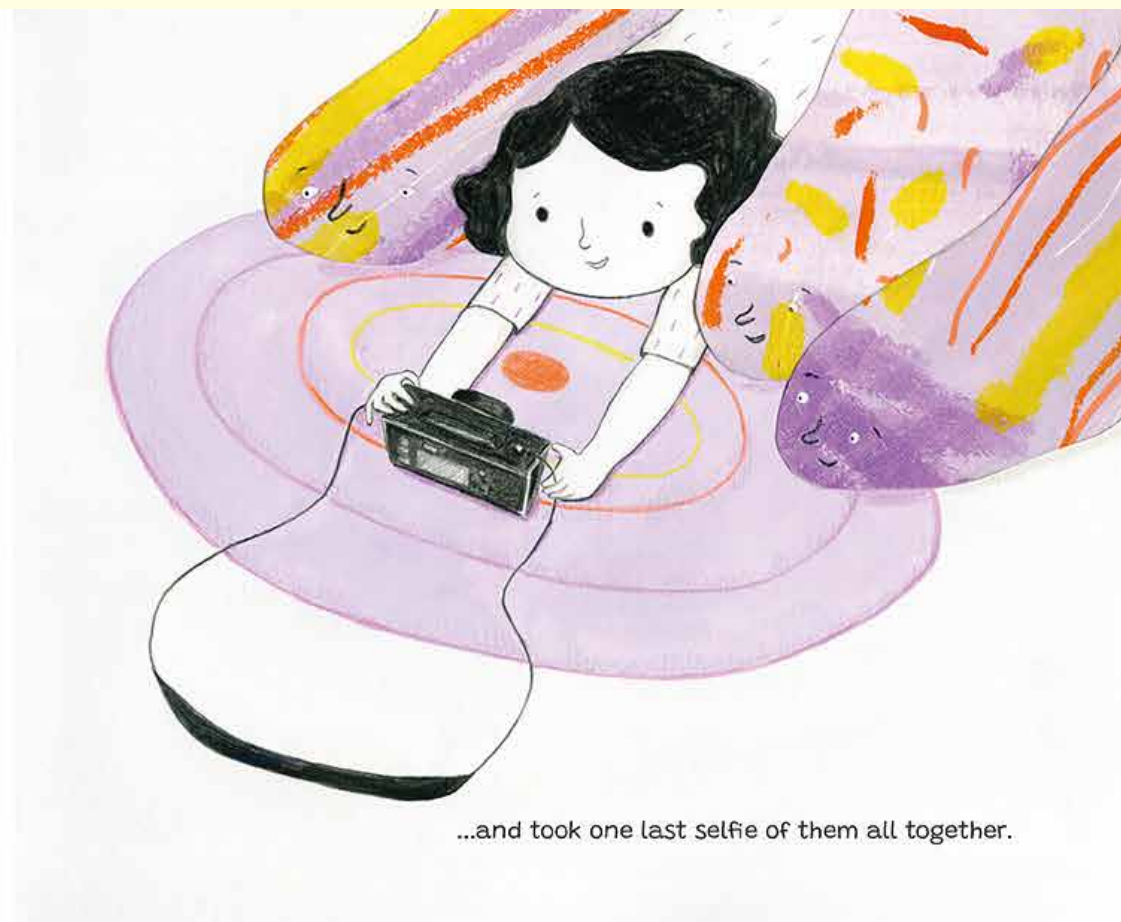

When I arrived everyone was kicking me!

Once he'd finished, Antoine lay down on the grass and starred up into the sky.

But when he felt his eyes starting to close, Antoine made himself get up and climb back on his bike.

Vegetables again?

Having to plan supper again?

Homework.

Housework.

Grown-up blah, blah, blah.

Other people's noise.

Why can't I have a messy room?

Why do I care about keeping things tidy?
